

NEW STIR PROMISED NOW IN POLITICS

RECENTLY ELECTED REPUBLICAN NATIONAL COMMITTEEMEN MAY DEMAND SEATS.

Col. New Says Term of Office Begins at Close of Convention—No more Reason For Commitment to Take Office Now Than For a Successful Presidential Candidate to Do So as Soon as Vote is Canvassed.

Chicago, May 29.—Word that R. B. Howell recently elected Republican national committeeman from Nebraska by direct primary would come to Chicago on June 6, when the national committee meets to hear contests and demand his seat, caused a stir today among members of the committee. Mr. Howell is a supporter of Col. Roosevelt and was chosen at the direct primary as the successor of Victor Rosewater, acting chairman of the Republican national committee whose official duty it will be to call the Republican national convention to order on June 29, and introduce Senator Elihu Root as temporary chairman.

At local Roosevelt headquarters it was said that Mr. Howell had been advised that under the law he was entitled to immediate possession of his seat as a member of the Republican national committee from Nebraska and he would insist on recognition when the committee meets to hear contests on June 6. Thomas K. Niedringhaus, elected national Republican committeeman from Missouri under the direct primary and others similarly elected, will, it is said, demand their seats when the committee meets next week. Roosevelt managers here declare there are at least five new national committeemen who will attempt to assume their official duties before the questions of contest is taken up by the committee. The operation of the direct primary law in a number of states where the national committee men are chosen by popular vote instead of by the delegates, presents a new problem which will in all probability have to be dealt with either by the national committee or the national convention.

New Cites Customs.
Harry S. New, chairman of the sub-committee on arrangements said: "The terms of the national committee of the convention when the members always are called upon to meet and assume their official duties. This is the rule and practice of the party, and is as old as the party itself. There is no just demand nor reasonable excuse for a departure from this rule in my opinion."

"A candidate for president who receives a majority of the votes might with equal propriety go to the white house the minute the vote is canvassed and demand the office on the ground that he wanted the office so bad he could not wait until the incumbents term expired."

"The Republican party has a right to an orderly convention and it is the duty of the Republican national committee to see that it has one. The committee exists for that very purpose."

"It is the duty of the committee to provide temporary officers. This is necessary to identify the convention with the party and to differentiate that convention from any irresponsible gathering that might attempt to constitute itself a Republican convention without authority."

Cannot Bully Committeemen.
"The members of the national committee are men of character and standing and are entitled to some respect."

JAMES A ROSE DIED VERY SUDDENLY

SECRETARY OF STATE SUCCEEDED TO APPOINTEE WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

Illness Lasted but Short Time—First Elected Secretary in 1900—Republican State Central Committee Will Designate Man to Take His Place in Coming Election.

Springfield, Ill., May 29.—Secretary of State James A. Rose died at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at his home in this city from apoplexy. He had been ill but one day and the suddenness of his death came as a great shock to the residents of Springfield, which city has been his home for the past fifteen years.

Last night Secretary Rose was taken ill and suffered two internal hemorrhages during the night. This morning he complained of a suffocating sensation, but the attending physician did not realize that death was so near. Mr. Rose told his wife, that unless he gained relief that he could not live. Mr. Rose suffered but little until about an hour before his death when he was seized with choking sensations which continued until the end. He was conscious almost to the last. He was born October 13, 1850.

Secretary Rose is survived by his widow, one daughter, Mrs. James P. Smith of Paducah, Ky.; one son, Charles R. Rose of this city; one daughter, John B. Rose of Oklahoma City, Okla.; one sister, Mrs. Nell Smith of Metropolis, Ill.; a half brother, William D. Rose of this city, and by two grandchildren, Elizabeth and Josephine McCoy.

Mr. Rose had just finished a successful campaign for re-nomination as the Republican candidate for secretary of state and the hard work incident to the campaign is probably partly responsible for his death.

He was first elected secretary of state in 1896 and was re-elected in 1900, 1904 and 1908. He was one of the best known figures in public life in Illinois and his popularity is best shown by the large majorities by which he was elected secretary of state time after time, holding the office longer than any man ever before him.

The death of Mr. Rose will work a big change in the political situation in the state. It will be necessary for Governor Deneen to name a successor to fill out the unexpired term, and for the Republican state committee to fill the vacancy on the state ticket. It is regarded as probable that Chief Clerk Harrington Clanchain will be named by the governor to serve the balance of Secretary Rose's term.

Burial at Golconda.
Secretary Rose was a member of numerous fraternal organizations, including the Masons, Knights Templar, Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias and Elks. He was a member of Sangamon and the Illinois country clubs of this city and of the Hamilton and Union League clubs of Chicago.

The funeral will be held at Golconda, where burial will be made in the family lot in the cemetery at that place.

Short services will be held at the residence in this city at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, the Rev. J. H. Stevenson of Brookfield, formerly pastor of the Presbyterian church of Golconda, officiating. The body will be taken on a special train to Golconda, accompanied by the state officers and members of the family.

The special will leave this city about 8 o'clock tomorrow night, returning to Springfield at midnight.

Deneen Makes Statement.
The sudden death of Secretary Rose has sent a pall of sorrow over the capital. Governor Deneen tonight made the following statement: "The death of Hon. James A. Rose this afternoon came as a great shock to the community. For many years Mr. Rose has been one of the best known figures in Illinois public life. He has served the state as state's attorney, as superintendent of public instruction, as secretary of state, and always with credit and distinction. His administration of the office of secretary of state with which I have been most familiar during the past eight years, has been a model of efficiency and has so commended him to the people of this state that he had just been re-nominated by them for a fifth term by an overwhelming majority."

M. E. CONFERENCE HAS ADJOURNED

LOTS OF BUSINESS TRANSACTED AT FINAL SESSION IN MINNEAPOLIS.

Revision of Church Ritual is Referred to Commission For Report in 1914—Summary is Given of the Work of the Conference—Bishop of Race Clause Amended.

Minneapolis, May 29.—The quadrennial conference of the Methodist Episcopal church closed this afternoon. Many measures were rushed through during the day but the one that caused the disturbance last night—revision of the church ritual—was referred to a commission to report to the 1916 conference. The conference's last act was one which was considered by the delegates as one of the most important matters of legislation before the 1912 gathering, the approval of the amendment to the constitution of the "bishop of race" clause. The matter will be submitted to the annual lay conferences during the next four years and be brought up for final action at the general conference in 1906. Among the things which the 1912 conference did:

Electing eight bishops or general superintendents and two missionary bishops.

Provided for automatic retirement of bishops at general conference nearest 73rd birthday.

Endorsed anti-saloon league and church temperance society.

Authorized appointment of commission to get with similar organizations from other Methodist branches looking toward consolidation.

Increased the bishops' salaries from $5,000 a year to $6,500.

Permitted unordained local ministers while on charge to administer sacrament and perform marriage ceremonies.

Among the things which the conference refused to do were:

Change paragraph No. 260, which places the ban of the church on dancing, card playing and kindred amusements.

Agree to final court of appeals.

Agree to proposal to reduce size of the general conference.

Accept proposal to re-establish itinerant system for pastors whereby ministers could stay but limited time in one place.

Agree to changing name "district superintendent" back to old title "residing elder."

ANTHRACITE COAL.
Resolution Introduced Calling For Investigation of Industry.

Washington, May 29.—Representative Diefenderfer, of Pennsylvania, Democrat, today introduced a resolution calling for a thorough investigation of the anthracite coal trade. He said the operators were using as an excuse for alleged exorbitant prices the fact that recently they were compelled to increase wages of their operatives. This increase, Mr. Diefenderfer contends, amounted to approximately $5,000,000 while the increased charge to consumers amounted to $1,500,000. The resolution directs the secretary of commerce and labor through the bureau of labor to obtain "full information concerning the different elements of cost and profit incidental to the present high price of anthracite coal."

FRANKLIN GAVE MORE DETAILS.
Witness in Darrow Trial Told of Alleged Efforts to Bribe Juror Lockwood.

Los Angeles, May 29.—Bert H. Franklin, former chief detective for the McNamara defense, entered into the details of the alleged bribery of George N. Lockwood by himself, at today's session of the trial of Clarence Darrow. He said that at a local cafe Darrow went over what purported to be a list of names of the McNamara jury venire and picked out one, that of Lockwood, Darrow he said told him to take the list and have his men investigate them. Taking advantage of the ruling of Judge Hutton Monday, the state, it was said today, would introduce evidence to support its charge that Darrow had endeavored to corrupt witnesses summoned by the prosecution in the McNamara trial.

EVIDENCE STILL OF STRIKE.
Chicago, May 29.—The first violence in several days as a result of the striking newspaper wagon drivers came to night, when Adolph Marcus, a non-union driver for an afternoon paper, was stabbed three times by an unidentified man, who escaped.

Marcus was attacked while riding on a street car, as he was returning home from work. His assailant followed him from work and drew a knife while they were surrounded by passengers.

"Scab" shouted the stranger, and then he stabbed Marcus twice in the chest and slit his left ear. During the excitement, Marcus' assailant leaped from the car and ran. Police removed Marcus to a hospital.

SENATE FAILS TO REACH FINAL VOTE

AMENDMENTS TO IRON AND STEEL BILL DISCUSSED.

Senator Gallinger Desires Repeal of Entire Reciprocity Law—Long List of Farm Implements on Free List.

Washington, May 29.—After devoting the day largely to the consideration of amendments to the iron and steel bill, the senate adjourned to night without reaching a final vote on that measure. Senator Heyburn held the floor upon adjournment and the understanding is that when he concludes a vote will be taken.

The amendment adopted place a long list of farm implements on the free list, repeal the Canadian reciprocity law and provide for a duty of $2 per ton on print paper, and reduce the duty on pig-iron to 6 per cent, and that on ferro silicon to ten per cent. There was a prolonged and sharp controversy over an amendment by Senator Pomeroy of Ohio to take medicine tools from the free list as the house provided, and fix a duty of twenty per cent on them. This was defeated 18 to 43.

The successful expected fight for the repeal of the reciprocity law was inaugurated by Senator Gronna, who at first proposed the repeal of all the reciprocity law, except the second section which permits the free admission of print paper from Canada.

Senator Gallinger moved an amendment repealing the entire reciprocity law, including the paper provision, and Senator Gronna accepted it in lieu of his own proposition. Senator Cummins, however, would not go so far and proposed the vote on paper be reduced from $3.75 per ton, the Payne-Aldrich rate, to $2. This was accepted by Gallinger and his amendment was changed at Mr. Cummins' suggestion.

This was adopted. An amendment by Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, reducing the duty on pig-iron to six cents in place of eight cents, as fixed by the house, was voted in 36 to 20.

AMERIBANS DID NOT LEAVE CHIHUAHUA

CRIMPEL TRAIN SERVICE INTERFERED WITH EXODUS PLANNED.

Rebels File Protest Because of Alleged Partiality of U. S. Howard Madero Government—May Be Embarrassments For Americans.

Chihuahua, Mexico, May 29.—Americans who have planned to leave here as a result of an intimidation today from General Orozco to American consul Letcher that foreigners may find themselves embarrassed owing to the alleged partiality of the United States to the Madero government were unable to go. The regular train from here to El Paso did not leave today, water shortage being the official explanation given.

Orozco in his protest to Consul Letcher, says the revolutionary authorities may be unable to restrain the populace in its indignation when it realizes the extent of the assistance being given the Mexican government in its fight against the rebels.

The protest is directed against the attitude of the American authorities in permitting Mexican soldiers north of the boundary.

The protest has been ordered published widely in both Spanish and English. It is directed to Madero and to the United States.

After a recital in detail of many instances in which the American authorities have aided the Madero government especially in permitting Mexican consul at El Paso to recruit and equip men for the body command at Ojinaga by General Salazar and the failure of the authorities to turn back federalists defeated at Ciudad Juarez, it is intimated that there exists between Madero and the government at Washington some agreement regarding a huge recompense.

Back of all is the fact that the American government has crippled seriously the rebels by its stringent application of the laws preventing the importation of ammunition. The rebels characterize the attitude as eminently unfair.

The issuance of the protest by Orozco has stirred the foreign colony to apprehension.

The protest is a sequel to recent anti-American manifestations resulting from President Taft's proclamation forbidding the exportation of arms into the rebel zone.

The rebels here claim they are fighting two governments, the United States as well as Madero and argue that they would have checked the advance of the federalists under General Huerta but for a scarcity of ammunition. Money conditions are unsettled and the revolutionary cash drawer is in need.

The bank of Banco Minero closed its doors at noon today. This is the second bank which in a week to close, the bank of Sonora, being first. To secure money to continue the campaign a meeting of representative business men of Chihuahua was held at the request of the revolutionary officers here. Four foreign dignitaries were present, but refused to agree to a contribution of a million pesos said to be desired by the liberals.

Fifteen Maderistas charged with firing on a Mexican Northwestern passenger train near Santa Isabel yesterday were captured and executed today by the liberals.

Chicago, May 29.—A young Lauderdale, a mail carrier, who had been in the government service for more than twenty years, was held in bonds of $2,500 today by Commissioner Mark A. Foote, on a charge of rifling the mails. Federal officers said a marked bill was found in Lauderdale's pocket when he was arrested.

GAVE ROOSEVELT SEVERE CRITICISM

FITZGERALD AFTER THE COLORFUL IN VERY SARCASTIC VEIN.

Democrats Roared When Memorandum Was Produced Referring to Presidential Quarters as Permanent During "My" Lifetime—Words From Lincoln Applied to Former President.

Washington, May 29.—The activities of Col. Theodore Roosevelt were denounced in the house today in a speech bristling with sarcasm delivered by Representative Fitzgerald, Democrat, of New York, chairman of the house appropriations committee. Representative Fitzgerald declared Roosevelt the "greatest danger faced by the republic" and quoted at length from a speech by Abraham Lincoln to bear out the charge. As an indication of Roosevelt's attitude toward the president, Mr. Fitzgerald produced a memorandum prepared when plans for near executive offices at the white house were under consideration in 1902. Besides a discussion of "temporary" and permanent quarters for the president appeared, in the handwriting of Col. Roosevelt the words "to be permanent during my lifetime."

"The 'my' was heavily underscored," commented Mr. Fitzgerald, waving the document at arm's length, and the Democratic side of the house roared with laughter.

The New York member applied directly to Roosevelt extracts from a speech delivered by Abraham Lincoln before the Young Men's League of Springfield, Ill. In part, the extracts read:

Quotes From Lincoln.
"Many great and good men sufficiently qualified for any task they should undertake, may ever be found whose ambition would aspire to nothing beyond a seat in congress, a gubernatorial or presidential chair; but such belong not to the family of the lion or the eagle. What I think on these places would as safely a Caesar or Alexander or a Napoleon? Never. Towering genius dispenses a beaten path. It seeks regions heretofore unexplored. It sees no distinction in adding story to story upon the monuments of fame erected to the memory of others."

It denotes that it is glory enough to serve under any chief. It scores to tread in the footsteps of any predecessor, however illustrious. It thrusts and burns for distinction and if possible it will have it, whether at the expense of emancipating slaves or enslaving free men. It is not unreasonable then, to expect that some man, possessed of the loftiest genius, coupled with ambition sufficient to push it to its utmost stretch, will at some time spring up among us. And when such a one does, it will require the people to be united with each other, attached to the government and the laws and generally intelligent, to frustrate his designs. Distinction will be his paramount object and although he would as willingly perhaps, perhaps more so, to acquire it by doing good as harm, yet, that opportunity being passed, and nothing left to be done in the way of building up, he would set boldly to the task of pulling down."

NO STATEMENT FROM LORIMER.
Senator's Friends Believed He Would Make Known His Intentions Yesterday.

Washington, May 29.—A statement from Senator Lorimer of Illinois, either in the form of a formal resignation from the senate, or a flat refusal to resign in response to the importunities of some of his colleagues, was expected throughout the day by senators active in the case, but developments were not forthcoming. It is expected that definite word from the Illinois senator would reach the senate today. Senators Kern and Lea telegraphed him yesterday suggesting that he indicate approximately when he would be in the senate, but they had no answer and for this reason the case was not called up. The minority have evidenced a disposition to press the case to a vote, allowing, however, a reasonable time for Senator Lorimer to communicate a response to the inquiries sent him and to the pressure that has been exerted by some of his friends on the basis of what they told him was a practical certainty of an unfavorable vote.

HURLEY LONG HAD MURDER IN MIND

PLANNED DETAILS OF CRIME WITH COOLNESS AND DELIBERATION.

Mrs. Gilson Tells How Spirit of Revenge Gradually Possessed the Man's Brain—Explained to Her Full Details of His Intention to Commit Murder and Then Kill Himself—Facts of His Final Moments Are Told.

That the murder of Charles W. Brown had been long in the mind of Ambrose Hurley there can be no doubt. The exact way in which the crime was to be committed had been considered and it only remained for the murderer to come to a final agreement with himself as to the day and the hour and the method for the closing scenes of the tragedy. Mrs. Rose Gilson, at whose home Ambrose Hurley had boarded the greater part of the time for four or five years, yesterday told a Journal reporter the following story:

"Ambrose had this act in his mind for six months. He had told me many times that he would certainly have to kill Mr. Brown and I had tried to get the idea out of his mind and had pointed out to him how foolish it was to do that and said to him that no doubt he and Mr. Brown could settle their troubles whatever they were. Time after time I argued him out of his plans.

"He came home last Wednesday with a revolver and said to me now there is no use talking about this any more, I am going to kill Brown and then myself and I am going to do the job tomorrow. A meeting of the council had been announced for 10 o'clock Thursday morning and his plan was to go down to that meeting and after it was in session to walk into the room and inside the railing and stepping up to Commissioner Brown to shoot him through the heart. He planned to have a knife in one hand and a revolver in the other. I argued that such a plan was dangerous and that others in the room would be certain to attack him but he said that after the shooting he would command every man to sit still until he had made his get away or to die. I pleaded with him not to do this and a little later I found from the paper that there was to be a council meeting and told him so. He replied that a day or two would make no difference.

"Saturday morning he said to me that this was the day he had finally fixed to do the job. I said to him, 'Amby get the hell out of here.' His answer was: 'There is no use in the world of your arguing about it. You have kept me from doing this for six months but now my mind is made up. I said all right, if you are going to do it, go ahead, for I was sore at him after so many long arguments on the subject. I knew what he had in his mind and that he planned to kill Mr. Brown Saturday and then to send a bullet through his own brain. I hardly thought that he really would do it and it did not seem to me worth while to tell the police or to send word to Mr. Brown. Ambrose had warned Mr. Brown time and time again of what he intended to do and so it seemed to me that any additional warning from me would do no good.

"For eight days Ambrose had been practically unable to walk. He was weak and ate little and was very nervous. I bought oranges for him and tried to tempt him to eat but he had no appetite and I could not get him to take little food. He had not been cranking anything for a number of days and there is nothing to the story that he was drunk last Saturday. Friday evening I helped him bathe and Saturday morning he asked me to help him dress. I assisted him with his clothes. Then I put on his socks and shoes and helped him get up from theavenport on which he had been lying. Then he told me he was going down town and asked me to lend him the money to pay for a carriage. I had nothing less than a ten dollar bill and I let him have that. He said he would bring me back the change. I asked him twice if he would bring me back the change but because I wanted the money but because I wanted to know if he would come back to the house again. An automobile came for him instead of a carriage. He said to me: 'Well, goodbye Nell, take a good look at me now for this may be the last time you will see me alive.' He managed to walk out to the automobile. After he was seated in it I ran out to him and said, 'Amby, please go to the doctor, won't you?' He knew that I meant to go to the doctor and not to do what he had planned. He made no reply. Then I said to him, 'Will you surely come back.' He hesitated a minute and then said: 'Yes, I will be back.'

"Then the car drove away. I was nervous all day for I did not know what to expect. I heard nothing from Hurley until late in the afternoon when the sound of carriage wheels came from the alley nearby. I was in the kitchen and a minute later Ambrose came up the back walk, not running, but moving rapidly. I met him at the door. He was as pale as a sheet. He said: 'Well, I can't stay any longer. Then he said: 'Quick, hand me that box of cartridges from the shelf in the front room.' He waited at the foot of the stairway until I ran for the box and when I had given it to him he went quickly up the stairs. He said: 'Good-bye Nell, you won't see me any more.' I heard him walk across the hall into the southwest room. I listened a minute or two and then when I could stand it no longer I opened the stairway door and called up, 'Hurry, Amby.' He came to the top of the stairs dressed in his trousers and underclothes but with his outer shirt off. All right, he said. Then I walked out of the

Discredited by a Knife.

An old politician whose tendencies were toward the teachings of prohibitionists tells how he accidentally spoiled the effect of a plan he was making against the liquor traffic before an outdoor audience in the northern part of Indiana. By the time he had made out the notes for his speech he had reached a point of view that boded ill for King Rum, and when he began speaking from them his imagination expanded and his language fairly scintillated with firebrands hurled at the traffic. In the midst of it, while paying his special respects to those who helped the traffic along by their lenience toward it, a series of malevolent breezes tried to carry off the loose leaves of his manuscript. To stop the annoyance he opened up his pocketknife and pinned the pages to the pine board before him. He pinned them with such a vigorous jolt that a big corkscrew with which the other end of the knife was equipped flopped open and stood up shamelessly before all those temperance people.

"I have always felt," the orator is wont to say, "that the impression I made on that crowd was not commensurate with the beauty of my effort."—Indianapolis News.

First Drop Curtain Sign.

It is very seldom nowadays that we catch a glimpse of advertising signs on the drop curtains of any New York production, and yet time was when this method of advertising was a source of revenue to the manager, and curtains were literally covered with signs. It is related that one of the foremost producers along Broadway some twenty-five years ago, while putting on a big musical play, discovered that his funds were running low and he was unable to raise a loan. One of the scenes in the play represented Union square, at that time the first class retail center of New York city. He had an idea. He went to merchants whose places of business were on Union square and proposed to show their stores in his scene and with their signs plainly in sight, which would be a good ad. The suggestion was readily accepted, and the producer got all the money he required for bringing out his play and a great deal more.—New York Telegraph.

Lively Wedding Gifts.

No one ever received a more curious consignment of wedding presents than the famous lion tamer Bidel. "We spent our honeymoon at Lyons," he once told a friend, "and we had some queer presents from the ordinary point of view, as all my friends were anxious to give something useful." Among other gifts were three boa constrictors and five alligators. I shall never forget how annoyed I was and how frightened my wife was when during the night two of the alligators broke out of their boxes in our bedroom and began exploring. I could not find the matches, and my wife and I remained on top of the bed canopy till morning. Luckily my wife did not think of the thing that was worrying me. I was deadly afraid that the alligators would wake up the boa constrictors."

Died For His Mates.

There is a tablet in the sailors' home at Melbourne to James Marr. He was a sailor before the mast on the Rip. On July 15, 1873, the Rip was caught in a squall. Marr sat astride of the gaff when a great wave broke over the boat and brought down the mainmast. There was only one chance to save the Rip. That was to cut away the litter. But Marr clung to the broken spar, and to get away meant to send him overboard to his death. So looking at him doubtfully, the men hesitated, their axes in their hands. Marr, helpless, pondered. He saw that his death would be the boat's salvation, and he shouted: "Cut away, mates! Goodbye!" Then he let himself fall into the cold, wild sea.

Making Dolls.

The assembling by German dollmakers of the different parts of the dolls is often very complicated. The best jointed dolls have stout elastic cord on the inside, to which the movable parts are attached. A special branch of the industry is devoted to the making of dresses and hats. The latest Parisian styles are copied in dressing the larger sized dolls, and the crea-

HURLEY LONG HAD MURDER IN MIND

PLANNED DETAILS OF CRIME WITH COOLNESS AND DELIBERATION.

Mrs. Gilson Tells How Spirit of Revenge Gradually Possessed the Man's Brain—Explained to Her Full Details of His Intention to Commit Murder and Then Kill Himself—Facts of His Final Moments Are Told.

That the murder of Charles W. Brown had been long in the mind of Ambrose Hurley there can be no doubt. The exact way in which the crime was to be committed had been considered and it only remained for the murderer to come to a final agreement with himself as to the day and the hour and the method for the closing scenes of the tragedy. Mrs. Rose Gilson, at whose home Ambrose Hurley had boarded the greater part of the time for four or five years, yesterday told a Journal reporter the following story:

"Ambrose had this act in his mind for six months. He had told me many times that he would certainly have to kill Mr. Brown and I had tried to get the idea out of his mind and had pointed out to him how foolish it was to do that and said to him that no doubt he and Mr. Brown could settle their troubles whatever they were. Time after time I argued him out of his plans.

"He came home last Wednesday with a revolver and said to me, now there is no use talking about this any more, I am going to kill Brown and then myself and I am going to do the job tomorrow. A meeting of the council had been announced for 10 o'clock Thursday morning and his plan was to go down to that meeting and after it was in session to walk into the room and inside the railing and stepping up to Commissioner Brown to shoot him through the heart. He planned to have a knife in one hand and a revolver in the other. I argued that such a plan was dangerous and that others in the room would be certain to attack him but he said that after the shooting he would command every man to sit still until he had made his get away or to die. I pleaded with him not to do this and a little later I found from the paper that there was to be a council meeting and told him so. He replied that a day or two would make no difference.

"Saturday morning he said to me that this was the day he had finally fixed to do the 'job.' I said to him, 'Amby get the hell out of my head. His answer was: 'Well, there is no use in the world of your arguing about it. You have kept me from doing this six months but now my mind is made up.' I said 'All right, if you are going to do it, go ahead.' For I was sore at him after so many long arguments on the subject. I knew what he had in his mind and that he planned to kill Mr. Brown Saturday and then to send a bullet through his own brain. I hardly thought that he really would do it and it did not seem to me worth while to tell the police or to send word to Mr. Brown. Ambrose had warned Mr. Brown time and again of what he intended to do and so it seemed to me that any additional warning from me would do no good.

"For eight days Ambrose had been practically unable to walk. He was weak and ate little and was very nervous. I bought oranges for him and tried to tempt him to eat but he had no appetite and I could get him to take a little food. He had not been cranking anything for a number of days and there is nothing to the story that he was drunk last Saturday.

"Friday evening I helped him bathe and Saturday morning he asked me to help him dress. I assisted him with his clothes. Then I put on his socks and shoes and helped him get up from the Davenport on which he had been lying. Then he told me he was going down town and asked me to lend him the money for a carriage. I had nothing less than a ten dollar bill and I let him have that. He said he would bring me back the change. I asked him twice if he would bring me back the change but because I wanted the money but because I wanted to know if he would come back to the house again. An automobile came for him instead of a carriage. He said to me: 'Well, good-bye Nell, take a good look at me now for this may be the last time you will see me alive.' He managed to walk out to the automobile. After he was seated in it I ran out to him and said, 'Amby, please go to the doctor, won't you?' He knew that I meant to go to the doctor and not to do what he had planned. He made no reply. Then I said to him, 'Will you surely come back.' He hesitated a minute, and then said: 'Yes, I will be back.'

"Then the car drove away. I was nervous all day for I did not know what to expect. I heard nothing from Hurley until late in the afternoon when the sound of carriage wheels came from the alley nearby. I was in the kitchen and a minute later Ambrose came up the back walk, not running, but moving rapidly. I met him at the door. He was white as a sheet. He said: 'Well, I croaked the guy.' Then he said: 'Quick, hand me that box of cartridges from the shelf in the front room.' He waited at the foot of the stairway until I ran for the box and when I had given it to him he went quickly up the stairs. He said: 'Good-bye Nell, you won't see me any more.' I heard him walk across the hall into the southwest room. I listened a minute or two and then when I could stand it no longer I opened the stairway door and called up, 'Hurry, Amby.' He came to the top of the stairs dressed in his trousers and underclothes but with his outer shirt off. All right, he said. Then I walked out of the

Discredited by a Knife.

An old politician whose tendencies were toward the teachings of prohibitionists tells how he accidentally spoiled the effect of a plea he was making against the liquor traffic before an outdoor audience in the northern part of Indiana. By the time he had made out the notes for his speech he had reached a point of view that boded ill for King Iota, and when he began speaking from them his imagination expanded and his language fairly scintillated with firebrands hurled at the traffic. In the midst of it, while paying his special respects to those who helped the traffic along by their lenience toward it, a series of malevolent breezes tried to carry off the loose leaves of his manuscript. To stop the annoyance he opened up his pocketknife and pinned the pages to the pine board before him. He pinned them with such a vigorous jolt that a big corkscrew with which the other end of the knife was equipped popped open and stood up shamelessly before all those temperance people.

"I have always felt," the orator is wont to say, "that the impression I made on that crowd was not commensurate with the beauty of my effort."—Indianapolis News.

First Drop Curtain Sign.

It is very seldom nowadays that we catch a glimpse of advertising signs on the drop curtains of any New York production, and yet time was when this method of advertising was a source of revenue to the manager, and curtains were literally covered with signs. It is related that one of the foremost producers along Broadway some twenty-five years ago, while putting on a big musical play, discovered that his funds were running low and he was unable to raise a loan. One of the scenes in the play represented Union square, at that time the first class retail center of New York city. He had an idea. He went to merchants whose places of business were on Union square and proposed to show their stores in his scene and with their signs plainly in sight, which would be a good ad. The suggestion was readily accepted, and the producer got all the money he required for bringing out his play and a great deal more.—New York Telegraph.

Lively Wedding Gifts.

No one ever received a more curious consignment of wedding presents than the famous lion tamer Bidel. "We spent our honeymoon at Lyons," he once told a friend, "and we had some queer presents from the ordinary point of view, as all my friends were anxious to give 'something useful.' Among other gifts were three boa constrictors and five alligators. I shall never forget how annoyed I was and how frightened my wife was when during the night two of the alligators broke out of their boxes in our bedroom and began exploring. I could not find the matches, and my wife and I remained on top of the bed canopy till morning. Luckily my wife did not think of the thing that was worrying me. I was deadly afraid that the alligators would wake up the boa constrictors."

Died For His Mates.

There is a tablet in the sailors' home at Melbourne to James Marr. He was a sailor before the mast on the Rip. On July 15, 1873, the Rip was caught in a squall. Marr sat astride of the gaff when a great wave broke over the boat and brought down the mainmast. There was only one chance to save the Rip. That was to cut away the litter. But Marr clung to the broken spar, and to get away meant to send him overboard to his death. So, looking at him doubtfully, the men hesitated, their axes in their hands. Marr, helpless, pondered. He saw that his death would be the boat's salvation, and he shouted:

"Cut away, mates! Goodby!"

Then he let himself fall into the cold, wild sea.

Making Dolls.

The assembling by German dollmakers of the different parts of the dolls is often very complicated. The best jointed dolls have stout elastic cord on the inside, to which the movable parts are attached. A special branch of the industry is devoted to the making of dresses and hats. The latest Parisian styles are copied in dressing the larger sized dolls, and the creahouse. A deputy sheriff arrived about that time and asked me where Hurley had boarded. I pointed to the house and he asked if Hurley had come in lately. I replied that Hurley had not come in and I told that falsehood because I knew that if that deputy sheriff went upstairs that he would be a dead man. Then the deputy suggested that he would like to go through the house anyhow and I protested that there was no use, saying that I had not been away and that Hurley was not there. A minute later the shot rang out and I knew that all was over.

"When Hurley had told me about his intentions to shoot Mr. Brown he had also said several times just how he expected to take his own life. He had showed me just where he intended to put the revolver and just where the bullet would come out. I said to him: 'If you are going to kill yourself do a good job, don't let there be any half way business. He carried out his plans exactly and the bullet followed just the course he had expected it would. When he came back to the house I believe that he did so simply because he had told me that morning he would come. Except for that promise he might have committed suicide right where he shot Mr. Brown. When he came into the house he told me what he had done and I did not know whether he intended to go into the front room and shoot himself or whether he was going upstairs, but he evidently had made up his mind just where he would go after reaching the house.

"A week ago he went to a photographer and had a few pictures taken. Something I had been asking him to do for years. Then he brought them some he handed me the envelope and said, 'Well, here are the pictures. It won't be long now until they are all you have to remember me by.' I had arranged two weeks ago to move to Colorado with my daughter and in fact most of my household goods had been sold and I only had a few further arrangements to perfect before starting westward. The fact that I was going away seemed to be a weight on his mind. He would say to me: 'Well, after you are gone I will not have a single friend in Jacksonville. This has been the only place that I could call a home for years and now that will be gone. I haven't long to live and nothing to live for.

"During recent months I had kept him at the house simply because he had no other place to go, because he was sick and unable to work. When he had a city job and when he was a lineman he boarded at the house and we grew to be good friends and when he came to me and wanted a place to stay I couldn't refuse him. During the years I had known him too, I had been good to him and had lent him money time after time. We had counted up on various occasions and he recognized that he actually owed me between $700 and $800. He planned at various times to pay this to me but never was able to get much ahead to do it.

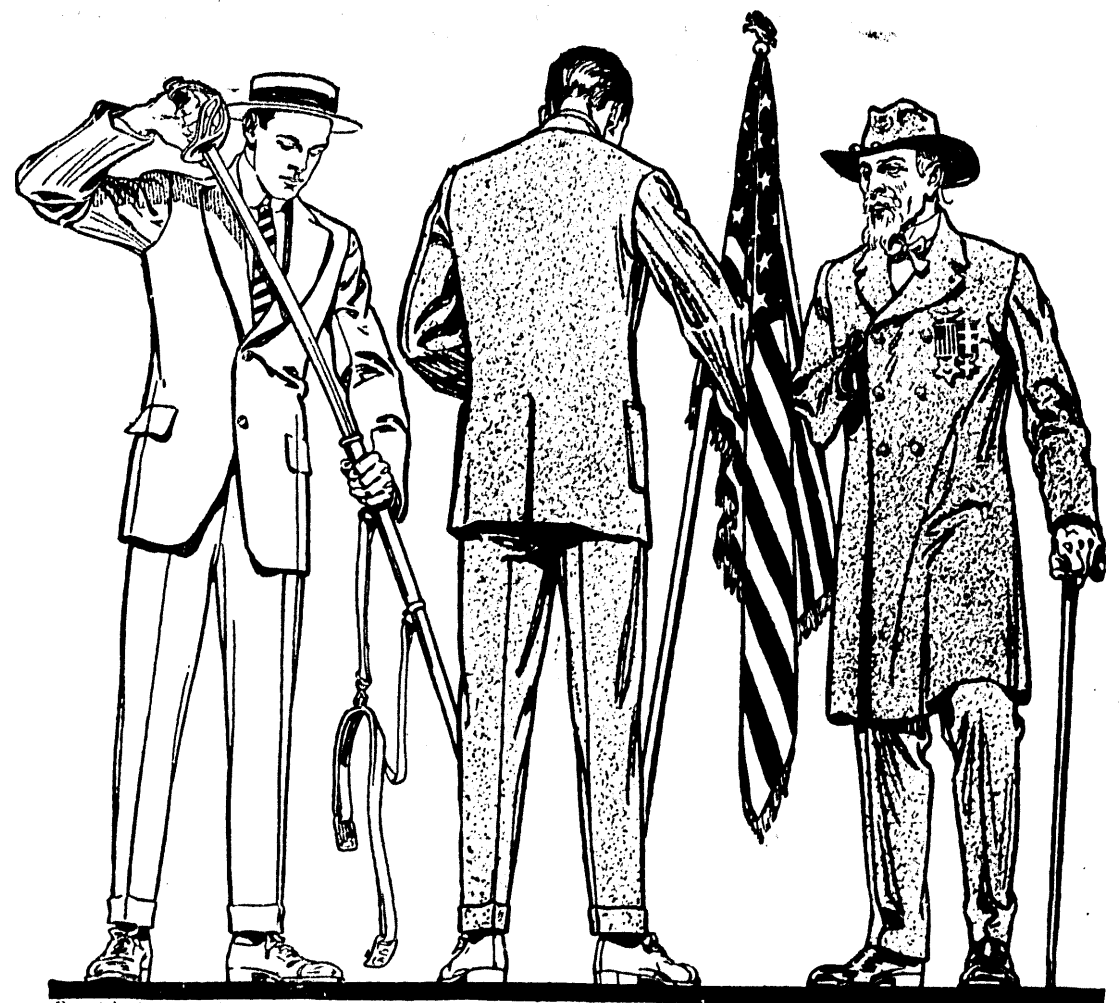

"He talked a great deal about his friendship with Mr. Brown and said that they had been associated for sixteen years. During the past months he began to talk against Mr. Brown and said that promises had been made to him which were not kept. He frequently told me about some conversation with Mr. Brown in which the latter promised to get him a good city job. Hurley said he expressed his doubts at that time of Brown's ability to land the job for him and then that Mr. Brown said: 'If I don't get this job for you then you can shoot me through the heart.' Hurley said that the shock of hands on that proposition. The collection of that alleged conversation seemed to stay in Hurley's mind and he would keep talking about it and would say over and over again that if he did not get that job very soon that he would have to go ahead with the shooting."

Mrs. Gilson said that Hurley had acted strangely for several years in some particulars. She said that he was never willing to go into a dark room and that he could not sleep in a room unless the light was burning brightly. She said that when he was sick that he continually pulled the covers up over his head and acted in various ways like one who had a vague sense of fear and wanted to hide.

From another source it was learned that last Saturday afternoon, while up town Hurley made the remark: 'You want to look for the paper in the morning. There's going to be some sensational reading.'

The man to whom the remark was addressed thought nothing of it at the time and in fact it did not recur to him again until the day after the tragedy had been enacted. In the same conversation Hurley said: 'I feel weak and sick to day and there is no help for me. This is Saturday and I have not slept since last Sunday. Last night I bought fifteen cents worth of chloroform, saturated a towel with it and placed the towel over my face in an effort to put myself to sleep, but it was no use.' Through dissipation Hurley had contracted diseases and as his condition grew gradually worse there can be no doubt that in some measure his mind was affected. He got an idea of revenge lodged there. He brooded over that idea. No matter with whom he was talking in these latter weeks, no matter what the subject of conversation in the beginning, sooner or later he would drift to a discussion of his alleged wrongs. The idea of revenge, so deep rooted, finally possessed him to the exclusion of all else. The awful crime was conceived and with a terrible deliberateness was carried into execution.

NOWADAYS very few of us are called on to die for our country, or for any great cause. The main thing is—Do we live for it? Sometimes it's really a greater achievement to live for a thing than to die for it.

Now, you may think this talk and this patriotic anniversary of Decoration Day has nothing to do with the clothing business. But the big idea back of this celebration is the big idea that you ought to be back of everything we do. The man who serves his community and his fellowmen by doing, as well as he can, something that needs to be done, may be, in a true sense, "living" for his community and for his fellows.

One thing that needs to be done, is to make good clothes, and sell them fairly.

Hart Schaffner & Marx

make good clothes as well as it can be done; and we're trying to sell them in the same way. It's a service; we want to think of it, and have you think of it, as a service; a useful work.

We'll both profit by looking at it so.

Why Lincoln Helped a Bug.

President Lincoln was walking with a friend about Washington and turned back for some distance to assist a beetle that had got on its back and lay on the walk, legs sprawling in air, vainly trying to turn itself over. The friend expressed surprise that the president, burdened with the cares of a warring nation, should find time to spare in assisting a bug.

"Well," said Lincoln, with that homely sincerity that touched the hearts of millions of his countrymen, "do you know that if I had left that bug struggling there on his back I wouldn't have felt just right. I wanted to put him on his feet and give him an equal chance with all the other bugs of his class."—Kansas City Star.

"But it is the regular fee," protested the undertaker.

"That may be," assented the widow, "but this ain't a regular corpse. My husband had a wooden leg."

CITY COUNCIL

HELD SESSION

Letters Received From Dr. Bartow and Mr. Chubbuck—Proposed Buying Ordinance Defeated.

The city council held a session Wednesday morning. A communication was read from Dr. Bartow of the State Water Survey, suggesting a change of plans on account of Mr. Brown's death and expressing his great sorrow. A communication was read also from H. C. Chubbuck, stating the willingness of the Railway company to take up the matter of franchise and expressing the hope that litigation will not be pushed. The letter was referred to the city attorney with instructions to continue the cases if possible and to take steps looking toward a satisfactory settlement if possible.

A petition from boss barbers asking that the law against Sunday barber shops be strictly enforced was referred to the city attorney, as was a communication from the United States Revolver association, asking for co-operation in the matter of controlling the sale of revolvers.

The ordinance changing the council regulations in such a way that each commissioner buy the supplies for his own department was lost. Commissioner Newman alone voting for it. He subsequently changed his vote in order to be in position to move re-consideration. Mayor Davis was authorized to act as commissioner of public property until C. W. Brown's successor is chosen. Reports of boiler inspections at light and water plants were received.

The Bartow and Chubbuck communications follow:

The letter from Mr. Chubbuck was as follows:

May 25, 1912.

To the Honorable Mayor and City Council, Jacksonville, Ill.

Gentlemen: I understand the suits are being pushed. I was very much surprised to learn this, as I was under the impression there was no intention to pursue litigation if we were willing to treat with the city and secure a new franchise. We did everything we could and since we lost I am led to believe we cannot bring up the matter in an election until six months have elapsed.

We want to treat fairly with the city and think we have done everything we could under the circumstances. We are still willing to try and arrive at some satisfactory basis of settlement and will be glad to meet with you at any time the council suggests.

This would be the condition even if the suits were decided in your favor and I think you will agree with me it is useless of either of us to spend money in needless litigation.

Thanking you for past favors, I am,

Yours truly,
H. S. Chubbuck,
Vice President Executive.

The following letter was read from Edward Bartow relative to the death of Mr. Brown and the water situation in this city.

Urbana, Ill., May 27, 1912.
Mayor George W. Davis,
Jacksonville, Ill.

Dear Sir: The news of Mr. Brown's death came to us as a great shock and we desire to express our sorrow and sympathy. We presume that the sudden removal of Mr. Brown will make a consideration for an adjustment of the water supply situation during the present week untimely. As you are probably aware, we had intended at the suggestion of Dr. Carl E. Black and Dr. E. F. Baker to meet with representatives of the city and the water company and interested citizens for the purpose of if possible of bringing about some arrangement whereby the city might secure at once an improved water supply. We shall be glad to hold ourselves in readiness for such a meeting at any time and would suggest that you advise us of your pleasure in the matter at the earliest date practicable.

Very truly yours,
State Water Survey,
Edward Bartow,
Director.

Only 50 Women Can Join The Hoosier Cabinet Club for $1.00

After you study the above picture you will not wonder that women are anxious to join the Hoosier club, when by so doing they have a Hoosier Cabinet delivered to their homes on payment of only $1.00.

Think of the hundreds of needless steps every woman you know could save by having her table, pantry and cupboard, with all her tools and supplies centered in one spot.

Your energy instead of being wasted is saved and the time spent in your kitchen—the least pleasant part of your work—is reduced by one-half the moment this famous Hoosier Cabinet comes into your home.

The Hoosier company sends its 3,000 agents a limited number of Hoosier Cabinets each year to be sold under direct supervision of the factory on the famous Hoosier Club Plan.

This year most cities received only 25 cabinets. Our urgent request secured us 50 of these cabinets for the ladies of Jacksonville.

Only 50 women, therefore, can join the club and have a Hoosier Cabinet delivered immediately on payment of $1.00; balance in a few weekly payments of $1.00. Many already have enrolled.

The Club Plan differs radically from the installment plan which often is linked with high prices and unknown goods. The low price of the Hoosier Cabinet is fixed everywhere by the factory. No Hoosier agent can sell for less or more on any terms.

So club members get a great benefit from the liberal club terms. The club probably will be filled very quickly. Those who want Hoosier Cabinets should enroll their names at once.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

Miss Carrie Loken entertained a company of friends Thursday afternoon at her home in Orleans, at an ante-nuptial party in honor of Miss Abigail Palmer, whose marriage to W. P. Spillman is to take place next month. The Loken home was very prettily decorated for the occasion in a color scheme of pink and green. From the chandelier was hung a heart shaped bag containing a number of packages. Miss Palmer took down the bag and distributed the packages among the guests, the packages containing fancy articles, which the guests made and at the close of the afternoon presented to the bride-to-be. In the evening contest the prize was awarded to Mrs. Margaret Walter and the guest prize, which went to Miss Palmer, was a book of short stories. During the afternoon refreshments were served and the hours proved most delightful. Among those present were: Mrs. May Bennett, Mrs. Couchman, Mrs. Frier, Mrs. Frank Plouer and Miss Hazel Strawn, all of Jacksonville; Mrs. Clyde Cox, Miss Florence Cox, Miss Blanche Cunningham, Mrs. Mabel Sinclair, Miss Rose Strawn and Mrs. Margaret Walters.

A delightful dancing party was given Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ruble near Alexander. Music was furnished by Mallory Bros. orchestra. The hostesses were Mesdames Catherine Ruble, Maud Walsh, Mayne Davenport, Louise Masters, Caroline Patterson and Anna Beerup and Misses Louise Beerup and Margaret Lutz.

In the annual party given by the junior class for the senior class of the high school the students departed somewhat from the usual custom Wednesday night and entertained the seniors at a banquet and dance at Colonial Inn. The banquet room was very appropriately decorated in the colors of both classes, green and white, the senior class colors, and purple and gold the junior class colors. The excellent menu which was faultlessly served was greatly enjoyed by the students. Prof. Paul Morrison filled the position of toastmaster in an admirable manner and much enthusiasm was displayed in the responses made by the students. After the program dancing was enjoyed. The music was furnished by the orchestra from the school for the blind.

The committee in charge of the banquet was composed of Miss Marie Thompson, chairman; Miss Dorothy Camp, Miss Helen Wheeler, and Miss Helen McGinnis.

The program follows:
Welcome to the senior class—James Kolp.
At the end of four years—Miss Kent.
What we left behind—Miss Zeda Wolter.
Farewell to 1912—Miss Blanche Dobson.
Senior response—Evelyn Weeks.

ANNUAL SESSION

Membership of Westminster Church Met Wednesday Night—Good Reports Presented.

The annual meeting of the membership of Westminster church was held Wednesday night with a good attendance. The ladies' Aid society served an excellent supper at six o'clock and afterward came the business program including reports from all departments of the church. Rev. L. H. Davis was chosen moderator and presided during the session. The resume of work presented by the pastor and the several reports made all showed that Westminster is doing a good work and that all departments are prospering. An election resulted in the selection of three elders to succeed themselves, Easley Moore, W. T. Brown and Frank Robertson. W. J. Brady was re-elected a deacon. The resignation of J. W. Miller as a trustee was received with regret. Mr. Miller was being a resident of Greenville, Miss. Reports were presented as follows: Home missions—Miss Phillips. Foreign missions—Mrs. R. R. Stevenson. The Guild—Miss Claire Stevenson. Mission band—Miss Jessie Holmes. The Aid society—Mrs. Anna Kitchner.

A good many flowers were used in decorating the church for this occasion and by vote it was decided to send these flowers to the memorial services today.

Washington, May 29.—Desultory and destructive guerrilla warfare is expected to follow the mobilization of Cuban government troops in Guantanamo, where the negro revolt is strongest, according to meager advice received at the state department today. WIFE ATTEMPTS TO TAKE OWN LIFE

Mrs. Clarence Owens of Near Nortonville Jumps Into a Pond Near Home—Attending Physician Believed Woman Temporarily Demented.

Mrs. Clarence Owens, who resides one and one-half miles southeast of Nortonville, attempted to take her own life Wednesday afternoon by drowning herself in a pond close to the house. Only the shallowness of the water prevented the woman from carrying out her intentions. She had told her neighbors that she intended to drown herself in a well earlier in the afternoon, but was unable to remove the heavy platform. Dr. C. E. Waters, the attending physician, believes the woman to be temporarily demented.

At the time of the incident, Cleveland Edwards was plowing in his field, which is near the Owens home. His attention was attracted by a woman standing in the adjoining field, acting very strangely. He tied his horses and went across to the place and found Mrs. Owens had tried to drown herself in a pond nearby. She appeared to be demented and confused and said she had been driven to the field by snakes and rats. She had a five months old baby at the house and she asked Mr. Edwards to go and care for it. He persuaded her to go to the house with him and then he called Mrs. William Harklerod and her mother, Mrs. Tille Nichols, who reside nearby, and they came to her assistance.

Mrs. Owens was highly excited and constantly talked of seeing strange animals in and about the house. She had taken the shot gun and killed a dog and also a chicken in the yard. She also told a neighbor woman that she must die and wanted to see her people and ask their forgiveness before she died. She also said that she had tried to get into the well, but could not remove the platform and she only failed to drown herself in the pond because the water was shallow.

Mrs. Owens is 22 years of age, and was formerly Miss Anna Radford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Radford, who reside in Nortonville. The family is greatly respected in that community. Ever since her baby was born Mrs. Owens has not been well and it is thought her ill health had something to do with her actions.

DECORATION DAY AT HEBRON.

Graves of Comrades Are Covered With Flowers.

The graves of comrades, who are buried in the Hebron cemetery, near Sinclair, were made beautiful with flowers and flags Wednesday afternoon when Decoration Day was observed by the living comrades and friends residing in that community. Of those who went from the Sinclair neighborhood to join the army and who saw service in the war, three are surviving—Hassel Hopper, James Brown and Samuel Jumper—and they had charge of the exercises yesterday. There was a large assembly at the cemetery and the flowers were many and beautiful. Fifteen comrades are laid at rest at Hebron, as follows:

Samuel Mulligan, 14th Ill. Infantry.

UNDERWENT OPERATION.

Homeer Wood of Los Angeles, Cal., whose illness was mentioned a few days ago in the Journal, underwent an operation Wednesday at Angelus hospital. It will be remembered that Mr. Wood was riding in his own automobile which was being run by another man. The machine met with an accident and the chauffeur was killed outright and Mr. Wood sustained serious injuries. His attending physicians deemed it best to perform the operation. Mrs. John J. Reeve expects to leave for Los Angeles, Friday, and earlier if a telegram is received to come on.

S.S.S. NATURE'S PERFECT TONIC

Something more than an ordinary tonic is required to restore health to a weakened, run-down system; the medicine must possess blood-purifying properties as well, because the weakness and impurity of the circulation is responsible for the poor physical condition. The blood does not contain the necessary quantity of rich, red corpuscles, and is therefore a weak, watery stream which cannot afford sufficient nourishment to sustain the system in ordinary health. A poorly nourished body cannot resist disease, and this explains why so many persons are attacked by a spell of sickness when the use of a good tonic would have prevented the trouble. In S. S. S. will be found both blood-cleansing and tonic qualities combined. It builds up weak constitutions by removing all impurities and germs from the blood, thus supplying a certain means for restoring strength and invigorating the system. The healthful, vegetable ingredients of which S. S. S. is composed make it splendidly fitted to the needs of those systems which are delicate from any cause. It is Nature's Perfect Tonic, free from all harmful minerals, a safe and pleasant acting medicine for persons of every age. S. S. S. rids the body of that tired, worn-out feeling so common at this season, improves the appetite and digestion, tones up the stomach, acts with pleasing effects on the nervous system, and reinvigorates every portion of the body.

COMPLETE COURSE IN EIGHTH GRADE

Eighty-Three Pupils Are Promoted to High School—Others Are Entitled to Advancement in One or Two Studies.

A large class will enter the Jacksonville high school next fall from the eighth grade. Sixty-eight pupils have successfully completed the course in the grades and are entitled to take up regular high school freshmen work. Fifteen other pupils are promoted, conditioned in one study. They will be considered high school students but will return to the eighth grade for work in the one study. There are also six eighth grade pupils who have completed part work under the unit system and will be entitled to take one or two subjects in the high school. It will be remembered that a mid-year class was promoted February 1, making the total number from the eighth grade this year very gratifying.

The new system of promotion does away with any commencement exercise for the eighth grade but the boys and girls passing from this department into the high school are no less honored and are to be congratulated upon their success thus far attained.

The high school offers five courses: general course, preparatory to college; manual training course; domestic science course; agricultural course, and teachers' training course. The following pupils, who have completed the eighth grade and are entitled to take up regular freshmen work in the high school next fall, will select from the above named courses:

J. A. Shanks, Lewisburg, Ind., enjoyed a visit from his grandchildren. Both had severe colds and coughs. The medicine prescribed failed to stop this coughing so Mr. Shanks took the matter into his own hands and says: "I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and after a few doses they went to sleep and slept throughout the night without coughing." City Drug store, J. A. Obermeyer.

GET READY FOR CAMP.

Y. M. C. A. Boys Have Leased Sans Souci Cottage.

The Y. M. C. A. boys, who go into camp soon at Lake Mantanzas, have been successful in leasing the Sans Souci cottage, which is one of the most beautiful on the lake and is owned by a number of Jacksonville boys. In every respect this camp will be a luxury, all the necessary equipment being provided. The purest water can be had from a nearby well. Any outsider wishing to join this happy bunch will be allowed to go for eight dollars. Nothing good will be withdrawn in showing the boys a good time and Louis Becker, the most efficient and experienced man for the position, will manage all affairs. Every boy will have a position, which if not faithfully filled will be given over to others and the camp law will be strictly applied. Visitors will be welcomed at the camp except on Sunday. The boys are going with the expectation of having the time of their lives.

There are people in this town who unthinkingly neglect a "mere cold" although they would not otherwise expose their children or themselves to danger. Yet a cold neglected may develop into contagious diphtheria, bronchitis or pneumonia. Use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound promptly for a cold, cough, quick relief and cures colds. It contains no opiates and is safe for children. City Drug store, J. A. Obermeyer.

As "Ed" Howe Sees Life

If you have a little sense, you will find it to a big advantage.

A man hates his enemies with more enthusiasm than he loves his friends.

You are always tempted to mock those you dislike.

There never was a man or woman who did not occasionally manufacture a groan to excite the sympathy of friends.

A man's idea of a dull time is to play cards with women, and nothing up.

Children are not whipped as much as formerly. When I was a boy I was whipped at school, at home, by other boys and by the neighbors, but I haven't seen a child whipped in years.

When a married woman congratulates a bride she says: "I hope you will be as happy as I am." A married woman always makes a bold front and hopes no one will suspect the real truth.

When my stomach is behaving, and I am feeling particularly well, I arrange for a good dinner that will knock me out next day.

A million people ask themselves this question every day: "What is the best thing to do?" And the pitiful truth is, no one knows half the time.

As soon as a man believes he has a good many friends, and a persuasive way, he begins to think of running for office, or engaging in something else in which his friends can help.

WM. DARLEY'S DEATH IS REPORTED

Man From Waverly Died on Street in Oklahoma City—Some Uncertainty as to Identity.

Oklahoma City, Okla., May 23.—William Darley of Waverly, Ill., a capitalist, who came here with a view to making investments in the Southwest, fell dead on the street today.

The foregoing dispatch was received at the Journal office Wednesday night, through the Associated Press, and the dead man is probably William Darley, who left Waverly about one month ago.

A message was received by City Marshal Douglas Morris of Waverly, Wednesday from the chief of police at Oklahoma City, asking him to notify the relatives of the dead man and asking what disposition to make of the body. The message merely stated that the man had died in that city, giving no particulars of the circumstances surrounding the death. Swift and Healy, undertakers at Waverly, sent a telegram to the chief of police of Oklahoma City, asking him to send more definite information regarding the identity of the deceased, but at a late hour last night no answer had been received.

Until one month ago William Darley conducted a restaurant in Waverly, and then he sold his business to Newton Cloud. After disposing of his restaurant, he left Waverly, where he was going, about the time that Darley left Waverly a suit was filed against him in the circuit court by A. L. Hamilton, in which Mr. Hamilton asked damages for alienation of his wife's affections. The case came up for trial Wednesday, May 22, but Darley did not put in an appearance, and the jury returned a verdict allowing the complainant $4,000 damages. Darley was also named as co-respondent in A. L. Hamilton's divorce case, which was in court recently.

William Darley is a son of Benjamin Darley of Waverly and is about thirty-five years of age. He has two children—Winifred and Carroll Darley of Waverly.

THE NEW PLAYGROUND Will Be ready for Operation Soon.

Work on the new playground in the first ward is progressing finely and the place will be thrown open to the public about Tuesday afternoon. The director, H. A. Ruyter of Chicago, is expected Saturday and when he comes the finishing touches will be put on the apparatus which have been made and then all will be in readiness for the children of the city. It is earnestly hoped that all will go well; that the parents and friends of the children will aid in making the enterprise a success and that especially the residents in the first ward in general and those near the playground in particular will help along.

There is a good amount of apparatus already on hand and it all goes well it is the expectation that more will be forthcoming. What has been secured is of the best and well made; a good amount of trees and shrubs have been planted and all possible done to make things right.

A rare opportunity is afforded young men and women of this city to secure, free of cost, valuable athletic instruction from Mr. Ruyter who is thoroughly qualified to impart it and thus fit his pupils for earning and securing desirable positions. This is something not often afforded on such terms and a number should avail themselves of this fine opportunity. Athletic instruction is more and more in demand and persons able to take such places as will be occupied by Mr. Ruyter are always in demand at good salaries.

All young persons desiring to take this valuable instruction should make it known as soon as possible to Mrs. Cole, wife of Dr. Cole, northeast corner College avenue and West street.

SOFTNESS OF SEALS-KIN.

Is Rivalled by Human Hair Where Dandruff is Eradicated.

Sealskin is admired the world over for its softness and glossiness; and yet the human hair is equally as soft and glossy when healthy; and the radical cause of all hair trouble is dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite that saps the vitality of the hair at its root. Newbro's Herpicide is the only preparation that is fatal to the dandruff germ. Without dandruff there is no falling hair, but a luxuriant growth of glossy, soft hair is certain. Sealing the scalp won't cure dandruff. Kill the dandruff germ. Thousands of women owe their beautiful suits of hair to Newbro's Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. St. Louis, Mo., May 29.—After St. Louis tied the score in the ninth inning, Detroit won out in the fourteenth, when Onslow's single, a scratch hit by Louden, an error by Austin and C. MORNING EYE-OPENERS.

Up to May 22 the Pittsburg Pirates had 12 postponed games on their schedule.
"Josh" Clarke, recently released by Kansas City, has refused an offer from the New Orleans club.
Billy Jones, the stubby outfielder from Maine, has been released by the Boston Nationals to the Louisville club.

Hank Perry of Detroit Local No. 1 has been doing some fine work in the outfield during Ty Cobb's absence.
The most valuable player in the Pacific Coast league will be presented with an automobile at the close of the season.

"Lefty" Jacobson, the former Washington pitcher, is doing some fancy twirling to the St. Thomas team in the Canadian league.
Fred Odwell, formerly of the Cincinnati Reds, has succeeded William Johnstone as manager of the Marion team in the Ohio State league.

Ty Cobb is not the only one. Several years ago "Kid" Gleason, playing in Baltimore, jumped into the grandstand and walloped a spectator.
Frank Foxarty, the "Duke" minstrel, is masquerading with the Cincinnati White Sox and doing his share in keeping the Sox up in the race.

"Cy" Young says that the Boston Red Sox outfield, Speaker, Hooper and Lewis, flashes the most spectacular work he ever witnessed on a ball field.

Manager Johnny Kling is working his head off trying to keep the Boston Braves in the running, but the Braves don't seem to be able to start anything.

Pennings another Gregg will break into the big show next season. The Dubuque Three I league team has another Pitcher Gregg, who performs something after the fashion of Veen, the Nap star.

The champion Athletics are not alone in the hard struggle to get started, as a large number of baseball champions have been up against it so far this season. New Orleans in the Southern league, Dayton in the Central league, Peoria in the Three I league, Austin in the Texas league, Portland in the Pacific Coast league, Rockford in the Wisconsin-Illinois league, Wilkes-Barre in the New York State league, and Winston-Salem in the Carolina league, all recent winners last season, are at present either there or flirting with the last position in the standing.

WITH THE BOXERS.
Two 12 round bouts to a draw with Champion Johnny Kilbane is marked to the credit of Jimmy Walsh.
The Pilgrim A. C. of Boston is trying to match either Mike (Twins) Sullivan or Jimmy Gardner with Mike Gibbons.
Marcel Moreau defeated George Gauthier, the colored middleweight, in 12 rounds before a club in Paris recently.

PITTSFIELD M. E. CHURCH.

Organization Makes Progress Under Ministry of Rev. G. Rainsberger.
The First Methodist Episcopal church of Pittsfield, which has for its pastor, Rev. G. Rainsberger, has been making excellent progress during the present conference year. All of the Pittsfield churches with Rev. Louis Albert Banks, D. D., as evangelist, held a union revival in the Pittsfield opera house, which resulted in the conversion of a large number of persons, quite a few of them joining the Methodist church. The Sunday school has for its superintendent Prof. D. P. Hollis, who has an able body of teachers and the Epworth League has one of the best chapters in the conference.

The Epworth League is assisting to support the native preacher in India, who has been able to preach in twelve towns, where the name of Jesus Christ had never been heard until this preacher was sent to them. Two mission study classes have been successfully conducted by N. L. Eddy and the Ladies' Aid society is making some repairs on the church building.

A good sum has been raised by the Woman's Foreign Missionary society for the support of their missionaries and excellent work has also been done in the Brotherhood under the leadership of Prof. O. H. Blossom, the Queen Esther Circle, which has Miss Stephens as leader, and the Junior league. The pastor has the loyal support of the official board as well as of every member of the church in the work and the outlook for a very prosperous advance this year is quite bright.

WILL MAKE MEMORIAL ADDRESS.
Rev. W. S. Phillips will deliver the Decoration Day address in Astoria today and will speak on the subject, "The Higher Patriotism." In the same city at the Epworth league district convention, which will be held June 6 and 7, Rev. Mr. Phillips is to lead the singing and will also be one of a quartet of ministers who will sing. The others in the quartet will be Rev. N. M. Riggs of Beardstown, Rev. W. Miller of this city and Rev. H. W. McPherson of Ashland.

TRIP TO EUROPE.

Seventh Grade Pupils Take Imaginary Journey.
During the last two or three weeks of school the seventh grade of the Jefferson school took an imaginary trip to Europe, Asia, Philippine Islands thence back to the United States.

The children were divided into three groups, each group representing certain assigned countries. The countries were represented in song, costume, papers on principal features, characteristic dishes, flags, colors, national flowers, etc.

Both children and teacher feel deeply indebted to the following people for their personal interest in their trip: Miss Lyman, Mr. Nichols, who addressed the children on Switzerland; Rev. F. Gruenewald, on Germany; and Miss Olive Blunt on Japan.

After a wearisome but profitable journey all were glad to return to the United States and its glorious flag. The following is the program rendered in observance of their return:

STATE EMPLOYEES RIGHTS QUESTIONED

Butting Expected Outlining Their Proper Activities in National Politics.

Springfield, May 29.—Has the state civil service commission a legal right to prohibit activity of state employees in national politics? Some of the employees claim it has not. The civil service commission is undecided. Secretary Robinson says the bridge will be crossed when it is reached.

The question has never been raised in the state, because no one was under civil service in former presidential campaign years who cared to engage in the national issue. But the new law, which went into effect last July, includes men of prominence in the state government, secretaries and members of boards and politicians who have always been useful in the national campaign, and the commission will be faced squarely with the need of a definite decision before the fall election.

It is contended that the only reason for the rules of the merit system against political activity is to prevent an employee from aiding in perpetuating himself in office by keeping up a political machine, and to do away with the spoils system of appointments. In the national fight, however, the state job of the participant cannot be involved in any way. There, it is urged, the rule is not applicable.

Secretary Robinson believes that the good of the service will be the standard for judgment when the question is brought up. If an employee is devoted so much of his time to national politics that it is detracting from his usefulness to the state, he may be removed. Otherwise he will be permitted to take whatever stand he desires in the national campaign.

Violation Means Dismissal. But no matter what action is taken on the national issue, there will be no compromise on the rule against activity in state politics. Any employee who is caught devoting his energies and influence to the cause of any state candidate or ticket had just as well resign and be done with it. The commission considers that it has given enough warning of its attitude during the primary to make itself clear.

INVINCIBLES HELD CONTEST.

Blues Defeated Reds by Thirteen Points—Ball Game This Afternoon.

The contest for membership, which has been conducted for the past two months by the Invincible class of Northminster Presbyterian church, closed Sunday, the Blues defeating the Reds by 13 points. The class has now an enrollment of 235 and 193 men were present Sunday morning. It is now up to the Reds to provide a banquet for the winning side. Arrangements are being made and it will take place in about two weeks.

This afternoon the Reds and Blues will contest in baseball on the state hospital grounds. The game will be called at 3 o'clock and the following will comprise the teams:

Reds—Otto Smith, Harry Frye, George Casterline, Earl Johnson, Clyde Mann, James Butler, Rev. W. E. Spoon, George Day, W. Ornellas and W. DoShara.

Blues—A. Yale, E. Souza, John DeFratres, James DeFratres, Lloyd Williams, Cloyd DeFratres, Lloyd Vieira, Arthur Angel and Roy Souza.

Mrs. W. B. Davis, wife of the proprietor of Mt. Sterling Democrat Message, is the guest of Mrs. W. S. Phillips.

ST. L. UNIVERSITY COMES SATURDAY

Mound City Baseball Nine Will Cross Bats With Illinois College Players.

An interesting game of baseball will be pulled off on Illinois college field Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, when St. Louis university sends up their strong team to contest with Coach Harmon's "Colts." While Illinois college has often met St. Louis university in football, this is the first time that the two schools have met on the baseball diamond, and a great game is expected. Little is known of the ability of the visitors, but last year they defeated Rollo School of Mines by a score of 2 to 1, and that Missouri school supports a fast bunch.

Since the track meets have been pulled off the I. C. men have had more time to devote to practice, especially in this true of Buchett and Jaccard. Up to the present time Illinois has won five games and lost five, so the Illinois players expect to annex the remaining two games. The last game of the season will be Monday afternoon (Osage Orange day), when Millikin will send their team here. This is expected to be a royal battle and the fans of the city cannot well afford to miss these last two big games.

The probable line up of Illinois will be:

Hedgcock, pitcher.
Darragh, catcher.
Eagan, first base.
Phillips, second base.
Warren, short stop.
Buchett, third base.
Apple, left field.
Goodwin, center field.
Clower, right field.

Mr. and Mrs. Buford M. Hayden will leave Monday for Colorado Springs, Colo., where they will spend the summer. Mr. Hayden has a season's engagement with the Colorado Midland band.

F. G. Fuesael of St. Louis, state agent for the German Fire Insurance company, was in the city Wednesday on business.

WASTE SHOWN IN PUBLIC CHARITY

State Charities Report Cities Cases Where Unwise Charity Actually Caused Family's Downfall.

The state charities commission, in its second annual report, soon to appear from the printer's hands, shows up the waste, wrong and inefficiency of the present method of dispensing public funds in the relief of the poor.

The report says, in the opening paragraph: "If all the agencies in Illinois, public and private, which make the object of their efforts the relief of poverty and the betterment of social conditions, had conspired to produce a confusion in their operations, a waste in their time and money and an injury to their beneficent ends, they could not have wrought a more complete heterogeneous state than exists today in the field of charity."

"Outdoor relief," dispensed from public or private purse, or both, is without organization, coordination or cooperation among those charged with the delicate mission among the unfortunate.

Not Regard Consequences. "It is more often than otherwise expended without regard to consequences. In many communities the public money contributed by taxpayers for relief of poverty becomes a campaign fund and is prostituted to serve the selfish interests of the party or clique in power, and also are sought and are given out of consideration of political favors or primary and election days. "In such places the public records are practically worthless. Private agencies shun contact with the public agency and each goes its own way, doing its own damage."

"So slight is the co-operation among the various factors engaged in this work that it is not worth considering, while that existing between the public distribution of charity and the private is even less."

"There are a few counties and cities where there is a semblance of such co-operation."

Attention is called to the failure in nearly every county of the public overseer of the poor to co-operate with the private organizations in distributing relief. The public, which is indifferent to the methods and the waste involved in spending its money, is blamed for this condition.

What Might Be Done.

"If all the energy expended and all the money contributed in Illinois upon these causes were intelligently, honestly and systematically applied, marked progress would be noted at the end of the first year," says the commission, "whereas, under our system each year's end finds us tied fast to the same old post."

The commission also finds fault with the prevailing system among private organizations of delegating to some unpaid or poorly paid person "the delicate task" of relieving the poor.

Caused Family's Downfall.

The report draws a vivid picture of the downfall of a self-respecting family which, through accident, had to call on charity for help. How the chapter and the conclusions drawn by the commission in his vicious language will prove a revelation to the charity and sociological worker.

FALSE REPORT OF DROWNING. A report was circulated about the city Wednesday that Joseph Planagan, who is at Grand Island, Neb., was drowned, but there was no truth in the rumor.

The report got into circulation from the fact that recently Joseph Planagan in company with others at Grand Island went on a fishing trip and in some manner two of the men fell into the water and narrowly escaped drowning. Thomas Planagan of this city, father of Joseph, received a letter Wednesday morning which related the incident of the fishing trip but it was not made very clear as to who the men were that fell into the water and he sent a telegram to Grand Island, asking whether or not his son was one of the men. He received an answer about two hours later, announcing that his son was alive and in good health and that he was instrumental in saving the lives of the two men who fell into the water.

A Suggestion. The commission makes a plea that when a family becomes a worthy object of charity, a sufficient amount be given it to maintain it in respect until it can get on its feet. The prevailing method of doling out fifty cents or a dollar or two dollars a week, when such a sum is manifestly insufficient to meet any of the family needs, contributes to its degradation and ruin.

The report contains a number of tables of figures and statistics touching outdoor relief throughout the state; also a list of the organizations in each county which do a charitable or sociological work.

The line will be known as the Federal Transcontinental railway and will extend from Port Augusta in South Australia to Kalbarrie in western Australia. THE FLY

Destroy Breeding Places Early.

The presence of flies in the house is today coming to be recognized as constituting a distinct menace to the health of the inmates. Especially are they important in spreading typhoid fever, dysentery, tuberculosis in children. Each year approximately 50,000 children under two years of age die because of intestinal infection, most of which can be traced directly to flies. Among other pests we have still another 50,000 deaths each year from typhoid fever. Surely it is time that a determined effort be made in all intelligent communities to abate the fly nuisance.

The Typhoid Fly.

Nine-tenths of all flies found in our homes are what are commonly known as "house flies" and for which the name "typhoid fly" is now being widely adopted. Careful examination has shown that each fly on the average carries about 1,500,000 germs of various kinds on the exterior of its body. Besides this many species of germs taken into the digestive tract of the flies may pass through it in a still virile condition and are deposited in large numbers in "fly specks."

Fly Breeding Places.

All flies are bred in filth; either in decaying vegetable or animal matter. They require but twelve days for full development. Careful examination of refuse from horse stables is certainly responsible for the breeding of the majority of flies in nearly all communities. This is especially true where the refuse is allowed to accumulate indefinitely and remain in a moist condition. At such times a single pound of material may produce more than a thousand flies. In many instances open surface closets produce more flies than do horse stables. Hog lots and pens are also notorious places for the breeding of flies, among which the house, or "typhoid fly," is exceedingly abundant.

Control Measures.

Undoubtedly the most important of these measures are those which remove entirely or reduce or safeguard the breeding places of flies, yet in spite of all that can be done some flies will remain and to guard against their entrance to our houses, screen the windows and doors. Protect the food from flies in all cases. Keep all refuse in covered receptacles and destroy at once. Have an abundance of fly traps and kills the flies caught in them by plunging into hot water.

Always insist that fish, meats, green groceries and bakers' goods that you buy shall have been protected from flies. Among other good methods for the destruction are the use of common "stick fly paper" and fly poisons. One of the best poisons consists of a tablespoonful of formalin (which can be obtained at any drug store) in a teaspoonful of one-half milk and water. Expose this in saucers where flies congregate.

Now Is the Time.

Flies may travel for distances up to a quarter of a mile and united general action in a community are essential to fly control, but it will save human lives. If there is typhoid in your neighborhood, there are also breeding places for flies. A good plan is to "clean up," it may prevent a funeral in your home.

ECHOES FROM WINCHESTER.

Winchester Happenings Always Interest Our Readers.

After reading of all these people in our town who have been cured by Doan's Kidney Pills, the question naturally arises: "Is this medicine really successful in our family?" The answer is a resounding "yes." The generous statement of this Winchester resident leaves no room for doubt on this point. Mrs. James Stewart, Davis, St. Winchester, Ind., says: "I was greatly benefited by Doan's Kidney Pills. For quite a while I suffered from backache which was always worse when I stooped or overworked. The kidney secretions were also irregular in passage, causing me much annoyance. Doan's Kidney Pills had previously been used in our family with such good results that I began taking them. The contents of two boxes cured me and I have not been bothered since."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Swanger, state bank commissioner and former secretary of state; and John C. McKinley, who was lieutenant governor from 1906 to 1908 and twice the Republican nominee for United States senator.

For the fourth consecutive time Eugene V. Debs of Indiana is the Socialist candidate for president of the United States. In again nominating Mr. Debs the Socialist party has broken the record, as no other political party has ever nominated the same man for president four times. In 1904 Mr. Debs polled 88,000 votes; in 1908 142,000 and four years ago he received 1,100,000. The party leaders predict that the Socialist vote next November will be close to the 2,000,000 mark.

READY FOR BIG RACE.

Great Test of Speed and Endurance of Automobiles at Indianapolis Today.

Indianapolis, May 29.—Practice for the second annual 500-mile international sweepstakes race, to be run on the Indianapolis motor speedway tomorrow, is ended and the drivers and their assistants are today putting their racing cars in final condition for the great test of speed and endurance. There is every prospect of exceedingly fast time in the race as the practice during the past few days has shown that the course is fast, some of the drivers having driven laps close to 100 miles an hour.

On account of the number of prominent automobile concerns which have withdrawn from racing, the field to-day will not be as large as last year. But the objection last season was that too many cars, 42 were allowed to start, and the management claimed the large field was, to a great extent, responsible for the accidents. This year's event was limited to 30 starters and the entry list closed with 27 nominations. Nearly every American pilot of national reputation will be included among the contestants. Among them are Ralph Mulford, winner of last year's Vanderbilt cup race; Teddy Tetzlaff, winner of the Santa Monica race; Howard Wilcox, holder of the mile straightaway stock car record; "Wild Bob" Burman, the speed king; Len Zengel, winner of the national stock chassis road race at Elgin last year; Ralph DePalma, the mile track champion, and Caleb Bragg, the millionaire driver who finished second at Santa Monica last year.

Indianapolis is widely enthusiastic over the big race. Public buildings and business houses are gayly decorated with flags and the colors of the automobile clubs and associations. Within the past 24 hours the city has become the Mecca of automobilists of the country, and every hour brings more in machines and on trains. During the several hours between day-break and the sound of the starter's bell that will send the dare devil speedsters over the track at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, nearly a score of special trains are due to arrive in the city with delegations of automobile enthusiasts from Chicago, New York, Atlanta, St. Louis, Denver, Cincinnati, Detroit and other cities. A conservative estimate is that at least 100,000 spectators will view the great contest.

AVOID CONSUMPTION BY CURING CATARRH

Great White Plague Can Be Conquered in First Stages By United Doctors' Treatment.

More people die of consumption than any other disease. Some one has called consumption "the Captain of the men of death"; not a misnomer, either. But this disease can be cured and many valuable lives saved. It is taken in the early stages. In this climate nearly every one suffers from catarrh and many, many cases of catarrh which could be quickly cured if scientifically treated, are allowed to go on from year to year, from bad to worse, and finally end in consumption and death.

The United Doctors, who have their Jacksonville Institute on the second floor of the Farrell bank building, have been making a special study of catarrh for many years and have at last perfected a system of treatment which appears to be curative.

The treatment used by the United Doctors for catarrh is not a local treatment of the nose and throat. Each treatment is a course of treatment. It only relieves the symptoms while allowing the underlying systemic cause to grow worse.

The United Doctors' treatment for catarrh is a treatment for the blood and the entire system. It reaches into the cells, the utermost parts and crevices of the body, kills the catarrh germs, thus effecting a real cure.

Mr. John Lenon of Co. I, Soldiers' Home, Danville, Ill., writes as follows:

"For a long time I have suffered with a number of ailments, catarrh being the worst. For over twenty years I have suffered with a severe form of that annoying disease in my head and throat. Besides the bad headaches which are always a feature of the trouble, my throat would fill up until, at times, I have almost choked to death."

"I tried every remedy I ever heard of, but failed, besides placing myself under the care of numerous physicians, but my trouble continued unabated. Finally, about the first of the year, I heard of the great work of the United Doctors and on the 17th of January I consulted with them."

"I want to state that I am now entirely free of the disease which has caused me annoyance and anxiety and suffering for years. Ailing 20 years and cured in less than three months, surely is something that calls for thankfulness and rejoicing. My gratitude to the United Doctors and their efficient treatment is unbounded."

"Never in all my other efforts to regain health, was I benefited in the least, and I want to say that thousands of dollars could not buy the help that you people have given me. I earnestly urge any one suffering from catarrh to consult the United Doctors."

"March 29, 12 John Lenon."

The United Doctors' Jacksonville office is open only on the second Friday and Saturday. The next date on which it will be open is Friday and Saturday, May 31st and June 1st.

A. T. Rumber, 261 Fulton Place, Canton, says heavy work weakened his kidneys and caused him trouble and suffering. "Finally I took Foley Kidney Pills and now I feel like a new man. My bladder action is normal and regular. I have no more dizzy spells and I feel as much like work as I did 20 years ago. This is all due to Foley Kidney Pills which I gladly recommend." City Drug store, J. A. Obermeyer.

AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION.

Illinois Farmers' Institute. on agricultural prosperity; agricultural welfare depends upon agriculture itself is daily becoming more and more of a science; and these two factors reinforce the pressing demand for more and better agricultural education among the rural population.

But where are the teachers of agriculture coming from? This question is raised by A. C. Monahan, specialist in rural education of the United States bureau of education, in a bulletin just issued by the bureau for free distribution.

"At present nearly 2,000 high schools are teaching agriculture, the course being taken by an aggregate of some 37,000 pupils," Mr. Monahan writes. "But in all these schools only a few besides those giving four year courses in this subject have instruction in the rural population."

But where are the teachers of agriculture coming from? This question is raised by A. C. Monahan, specialist in rural education of the United States bureau of education, in a bulletin just issued by the bureau for free distribution.

"It is important, however, that properly trained men be obtained. Agriculture as a high school science has not yet been developed into a good pedagogical form and until it is so developed a higher grade, better trained teacher is needed for the agricultural subjects than for any other subject in the high school curriculum."

"Men for this work need a liberal education in the general culture subjects, together with special training: first, in the physical and natural sciences, particularly in their relations to the science and art of agriculture; second, in technical and practical agriculture and farm practice; third, in rural sociology and agricultural economics; fourth, in general psychology and pedagogy; fifth, in special agricultural pedagogy, including the history of agricultural and industrial education, the place and purpose of agriculture in the high school, the function of the agricultural high school, special methods of teaching agriculture, and other similar aspects of agricultural teaching. The opportunity for such preparation is offered by several of the state colleges of agriculture."

The bureau of education's bulletin which is entitled "Agricultural Education in Secondary Schools," will be sent free upon request to the commissioner of education, department of the interior, Washington, D. C. Among the topics covered in the bulletin are the following. Essentials in a state system of agricultural education; the need for reliable scientific data regarding the rural problem, and the proper equipment of an agricultural high school. A bibliography of education which deal with agricultural education is also included.

Ann Swinburne, an American soprano, who has been studying abroad, has been engaged to sing the role of Annabelle in the revival of "Robin Hood."

Helen Ware made a success in "Trial Marriage," by Elmer Harris, Cincinnati recently. Harrison Hunter and George W. Barnum were in the cast.

John Barrymore next season will be a member of the Little Theatre company in New York, having been engaged by Winthrop Ames for the title role in "Anatol."

Winona Shannon, who is alternating in the leading feminine role of "A Butterfly on the Wheel," is a sister of the late William H. Barrymore. She is a leading woman with Robert Hill in the role of Peggy Adamson.

It is announced from Buffalo that William Courtleigh was married in the city to Edna Conroy, who has been leading woman with Robert Hill in this season in "A Fool There Was."

John Drew will probably appear in the adaptation of a French play called "Papa." The story is that of a man who falls in love with the girl who was his son's sweetheart, and wins her for himself.

WHY HE WAS LATE.

"What made you so late?" "I met Smithson."

"Well, that is no reason why you should be an hour late getting home to supper."

"I know, but I asked him how he was feeling, and he insisted on telling me about his stomach trouble."

"Did you tell him to take Chamberlain's Stomach Tablets?"

"Sure, that is what he needs." Sold by all dealers.

Grain Letter.

Chicago, May 29.—Wheat—An evident desire to raise prices over the morning's holiday restricted trade to small volume. Liquidation and realizing sales were offset to some extent by persistence of scattered short covering. Most all crop experts in Kansas reported serious losses from heat and drought with no rain in sight. Bankers and grain dealers' reports were, however, more conservative. May wheat shows no sign of any serious congestion and there is no believed to be any concerted interest of importance in it. Lones are mainly scattered holders. Deliveries will probably be sufficient to do and Friday to satisfy all parties. Grain would doubtless cause a sharp decline.

Corn—May congestion is the important factor. The principal longs show a willingness to sell, but are not precipitating the sales. The principal holders have the situation well in hand and we believe shorts would do well to cover at the earliest possible moment. Futures are affected some by the May situation, also by the receipt of unfavorable crop reports. Unseasonably cool weather is creating much apprehension. Much replanting is necessary and good seed is said to be scarce. Cash demand has improved. Weather conditions and considerable growth may necessitate a good deal of early cultivation and seriously delay marketing. We look for rallies in futures, but feel that the short side offers the most attraction on bulges.

Oats—May liquidation by scattered holders weakened all deliveries. There was good demand from shorts. Local interests have rallied July and September and there is a large short interest in these futures. Crop news as a whole is decidedly bullish. We feel very friendly to oats investments on these soft spots.

Provisions—Larger receipts of hogs exceeding estimates. Influenced market pressure not great, but demand is light. We consider that there are many bullish features to the provision situation, but believe investments should be made only on sharp rallies.
